

Carving a dragon

Michael Schaefer

2016

www.schwaebische-kettensaege.de

At the beginning you shouldn't mind taking ideas and guides from the internet. This dragon was based on a picture in internet too. Hopefully the originator doesn't mind as well....

Get a long tree, minimum 30cm in diameter

Start to shape dragon's head at the thick ending of the stump

Continue the head and use a grinder to finalize the surface

Just go ahead along the tree and remove the wood around your dragon....

Although the sculptures look best in natural state without any colours, you will have to protect them to keep them some years

